About Us

The Washington State Department of Corrections (WADOC) manages, cares for, and provides a variety of programs for more than 17,000 incarcerated men and women in the twelve Washington State correctional facilities. WADOC is known for a compassionate, progressive correctional culture, exemplified by one of the lowest rates of solitary confinement in the country and the diversity of high-quality programming it offers.

Correctional Health Care is a rewarding career path in which health care professionals are responsible for the basic primary care for Incarcerated Individuals. Professionals treat a wide array of cases with emphasis placed on early identification of health concerns, care for acute and chronic health problems, and preventive care. Services include medical, dental, and mental healthcare which are provided to individuals by on-site health services staff. All disciplines within each of the 12 correctional facilities work closely together in order to reach a common goal, providing the best, most efficient, and cost effective health care possible.

We're glad to provide you a tour or you can visit for a quick mini-rotation to see if corrections medicine is for you

Now Hiring! Primary Care Physician Opportunities | MD/DO Full-Time, 1.0 FTE

UW Medicine | Valley Medical Center

Located in Renton, Washington, we are the largest nonprofit healthcare provider between Seattle and Tacoma, serving more than 600,000 residents. In addition to the 341-bed hospital with its Level III Trauma Center, Valley operates a network of more than four dozen primary care, urgent care and specialty clinics, with most located on or near the hospital campus.

One of the most culturally diverse communities in the country, our mission to care for our community like family extends to the entire Valley “work family” who prioritize safety, respect, compassion, collaboration, equity, diversity, inclusion, innovation and excellence. Compensation is competitive and includes a generous benefit package.

Just 30 minutes from downtown Seattle and Bellevue, the surrounding southeast King County communities allow you to easily enjoy a wide variety of Northwest recreational opportunities, along with more affordable homes, less traffic and access to a top school district.

Qualifications:

BE/BC in Family Medicine

We are currently hiring for a full-time (1.0 FTE) Primary Care Physicians with a desire to build a practice working in a collaborative, collegial, work environment. We have an integrated model with full support staff – Medical Assistants, Clinic Coordinator, RN Case Managers. We believe in continuity between patient and provider is the key to all-around satisfaction and we have a team-based approach to patient-centered care.

Ability to communicate and work effectively with the physical and emotional developments of all age groups appropriate to specialty training. Limited call expectations.

Ability to obtain a medical professional license in the State of WA.

Ability to obtain a DEA with full prescriptive authority needed for specific practice

UW Medicine

PRIMARY CARE

UW Medicine Primary Care is a network of community based primary and urgent care clinics that offer exceptional career opportunities. The clinics provide a wide spectrum of primary care and secondary care services, from pediatrics to geriatrics, using the patient-centered medical home model. The clinics offer primary care six days a week, with urgent care services available at convenient locations seven days a week.

Many of our clinics have already achieved Patient-Centered Medical Home Recognition from the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) and we are seeking recognition for our remaining clinics. This highlights the unique and comprehensive care delivery that we have in place to serve the needs of our patients, including behavioral health, care management, lab and radiology, and a fully integrated electronic medical record. Through our affiliation with the world-class University of Washington School of Medicine and the top ranked primary care training program in the United States, our employees have the distinct advantage to provide our patients with an exceptionally high level of innovative care.
